Thermal imaging cameras for maritime applications

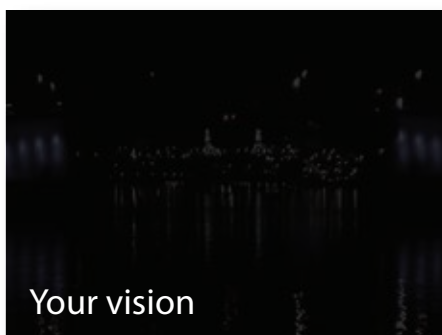

A full range of thermal imaging cameras

FLIR Systems markets a full range of thermal imaging cameras for the most demanding maritime applications. Our thermal imaging cameras are rapidly finding their way to pleasure craft and yachts, commercial vessels, work boats, fishing boats, cruise ships and many other types of vessels.

They will help you to navigate in all circumstances, detect other vessels, assist in man overboard searches, secure your vessel in the harbour and at open water (anti-piracy) and give you a good overview of what is happening in the dark.
